

I have used Monaghan products since the Aerochamber® was first introduced. To me, Monaghan represents leadership, innovation, quality, and consistency in product development and refinement. They are in it for the long run, and have helped advance the science of respiratory care through their commitment to research and to promoting evidence-based practice. I view them as market leaders not only because of their products but also because of the people who represent them. They partner with clinicians to educate, to listen, and to respond to the evolving needs of the respiratory care community and the patients we serve.

Our health care facility has used AeroChamber spacing device since inception, we would not use anything else. Aerochamber Max and ZStat are easy to use, our patient's love them! With the new HFA propellants, we are thankful for the non-static spacing devices - Aerochamber MAX and Z-STAT!

On August 15 I began using an AeroChamber spacer with my three asthma inhalers, and I am writing you today to tell you that simple device has turned my life around!

I am a 56 year old female who was diagnosed with adult onset asthma seven years ago, and although I take a lot of medicine daily, I seemed to be getting worse and never really "get away" from my own body and the various ways that my allergies and asthma affected me. A month ago a friend of mine sent me a Johns Hopkins Medical Letter which contained an article about spacers to use with metered inhalers, and I decided real fast to give one a try.

I would never have dreamed I could feel as good again as I've been feeling these last few weeks. It is an absolute miracle! I am practically kicking up my heels. What is incredible also is the realization every time I used an inhaler (and it was often), I was probably irritating my bronchial tubes and worsening my condition. In every way, my life has improved. I could bore you with all the simple little things that were difficult for before -scrubbing my back in the shower, showering itself, shampooing my hair, lifting a laundry basket, walking into the wind, breathing the night air, even steering my car - and now these things seem to be done without thought...except maybe one of thanks. I'm still shaking my head at all of life's little pleasures. I actually find myself singing out loud, whereas before I would have conserved that air and effort and remained silent. My friends and family tell me they can hear the difference in my voice, see it in my step and my carriage, and my ability to laugh again at a lot of things.

Thank you, thank you, thank you for this wonderful product. I am shouting its virtues from the housetops, and seriously, telling anyone and everyone what it has done for me.

As a person who uses several different inhalers and different inhaler delivery systems for relief from COPD, I attest to the superiority of your AeroChamber. The added relief I receive by using your product is astounding and much appreciated.

My 4 year old son has recently been diagnosed with asthma. Our Pediatrician has given me one of the AeroChamber Plus masks for us to use at home. We are very pleased with how easy it was for Jimmy to learn to use it. Thank you for your help. And for making it so much easier to control my son's asthma.

My son uses your 'aerochamber' with mask and it has worked wonders for him. I have noted a remarkable increase in relief from his bronchospasm as compared to nebulized treatment and the timesaving is a Godsend.
